

A sacred place to be, and to become people of hope, compassion, justice, and service.

Keepers of the Sacred Fire

Carol Kortsch and Caryl Creswell

November 2, 2018 to November 4, 2018

Do you long to celebrate within a human community that honors the silence of rock, the ripples of a tarn, and all other creatures? Are you ready to stretch out of the confines of your old story and welcome the new story that has been whispering in your dreams? Calling together a woman's circle for all ages - rediscovering and fanning the sacred fire within that has been forgotten, neglected, and though close to cultural extinction, has always been there!

Carol Kortsch was born in Africa, raised and educated in Canada, and now lives, works, and writes from Stonehaven Commons in Radnor, PA. She is a facilitator with Courage & Renewal and offers retreats from her wilderness soul as a life adventurer and Earth listener.

Caryl Menkhus Creswell has been involved with Courage and Renewal work over the past eight years. She is a recorded Quaker pastor and has pastored Quaker meetings for thirteen years, currently attending West Hills Quaker Meeting in Portland, Oregon. For the last twenty years she has worked with adults and children in Godly Play, a religious education program that deeply values the spirituality of children. She is a leader in sharing Godly Play nationally and internationally with children and adults in both English and Spanish.
